Bay County Emergency Management
Awareness Level 1 Class
December 3rd, 2022

Introducing Ailigh Vanderbush, the FL SARC Manager and saying goodbye to Megan Allan.

Megan said good-bye to SARC at the end of September and we give her a special Shout Out for all of her hard work and we hope to send her on deployments for SARC.

Ailigh comes to SARC and SPCA Florida with over 20 years in animal care in shelters, sanctuaries, and working with the public.. She has worked in animal behavior and training for all of that time but also has experience with exotic animals we well as wildlife and domestic species. Ailigh was in Reno, NV and Santa Barbara, CA during wildfires helping move animals before and after and was most recently deployed in a pet shelter during hurricane Ian. Ailigh is excited to be involved with SARC and helping all of you continue to grow and develop. Currently Ailigh shares her home with a Blue & Gold Macaw named Giligan, a Rottweiler mix called Tonka, a Catahoula mix called Maikoh and her partner Tom.

Thank you to our volunteers from our Nevada and Hurricane Ian Deployments!

SRAC volunteers in Nevada

Florida SARC deployed to Nye County Nevada to assist with a cruelty case involving 300 large breed dogs. Our very own Adam Jackson who spent an extended period assisting Nye County and the ASPCA. We had a few more volunteers scheduled to assist, but Ian derailed their plans and they were able to help locally

Florida SARC helps locally as Hurricane Ian hits South Florida.

Florida SARC volunteers have logged over 600 hours assisting with shelters in Venice and Englewood not to mention the hours logged and the invaluable assistance from Steven Carriere immediately after the storm hit. Steven was responsible for logistics at Incident Command and made sure all donations were sent to the right places and managed mission requests as they came in!

Is your Volgistics Profile up to date? Does it even exist?! Don't forget - the only way to hear about our deployments is to have an up to date Volgistics profile! Once you complete your Awareness Level training, be sure to sign up for a Volgistics Account so you get notifications when Florida SARC is called into action.

Once you complete your Awareness Level training, be sure to sign up for a Volgistics Account so you get notifications when Florida SARC is called into action.

Even if you only have a minute to add the basics, be sure to create your account so you hear about future opportunities!

Has it been a while since you checked on your account? Take a minute to ensure your details are correct in case you are called into action! Some things to check include:

- Your Email Address
- Your Emergency Contact
- Your skills, experience and certifications

FL SARC Invited to instruct Virginia Animal Response and Emergency Management Staff

By Steve Carriere, FL SARC Instructor

Partnerships are essential to any organization achieving success in its field, whether it is emergency management or animal rescue. Florida State Animal Response Coalition is fortunate to have volunteers and staff trained in both fields and have developed strong professional relationships with many people and organizations since its creation in 2011. FL SARC has developed a well-trusted reputation as leaders in disaster sheltering education and enhanced emergency response partnerships in and out of the state of Florida. In addition, FL SARC has taught hundreds, if not thousands, of students since its inception in 2011. Its goal has been, and is, to be the gold standard in emergency disaster response involving sheltering for companion animals. FL SARC offers the best in-class training by highly qualified and experienced instructors for Level 1 Awareness and Level 2 Operations classes featuring FEMA authorized training material used to develop a well rounded, educated, and experienced volunteer base. Successful completion of training allows FL SARC to provide volunteers qualified to support shelter operations, and in some cases, lead teams during disaster response. In fact, FL SARC is the ONLY animal disaster organization in the country authorized to teach both Level 1 and Level 2 courses!

So it was no surprise when state partners from Virginia, the Richmond Regional Planning District Commission, the Emergency Management Alliance of Central Virginia and Louisa CART (Community Animal Response Team) reached out to ask us to deliver our Level 1 and Level 2 trainings to the region. Led by instructors Andy Bass, Steve Carriere, and Michelle Newton, the team held training for over 60 students over the course of 5 days, including hosting a Zoom Level 1 class one week prior to the in-person training. Two Level 1 Awareness classes were held in Henrico and Chesterfield VA, with students of all walks of life, both volunteers and professionals, given instruction covering basic shelter operations, incident command system protocols, animal behavior, disease control, deploying, demobilizing, and finally returning home safely while understanding the importance of self-care. By week's end, over 60 students were trained and certified to respond as members of FL SARC.

Level 2 Operations covered topics more in depth than Level 1, including volunteer management, supply and logistics, incident command structure, public affairs, developing infection control plans, and more.

The training immediately paid off within a few weeks when members of FL SARC were asked to support disaster shelter operations in Kentucky just two weeks later. One of our Chesterfield students who just completed both Level 1 and Level 2 courses joined our responders in Louisville to assist with daily shelter care for over 20 dogs rescued from the Kentucky floodwaters!

Expand your knowledge with Fear Free Shelters!

The goal of the Fear Free Shelter Program is to improve the experiences of animals by educating shelter, rescue, and animal welfare employees and volunteers like you about their emotional needs. We aim to empower you to apply key strategies and techniques designed to reduce the negative emotional states that are commonly experienced by shelter and rescue animals—including fear, anxiety, stress (FAS), and frustration—and increase their enrichment opportunities. The Fear Free Shelter Program provides training suitable for all of the individuals involved in the care and oversight of shelter and rescue animals
